

The Hazards Campaign Alan Award:

the 'Alan'

Every year we will award an Alan in memory of Alan JP Dalton, who died in December 2003, to the Hazards Troublemaker of the year who has been most Alan - like. In other words, someone who has been most effective in stirring up trouble for criminal employers and complacent governments in order to make workplaces safer and healthier for workers and environments healthier for communities. To read more about Alan Dalton's work and achievements see Hazards 85 and www.hazards.org.

Alan made a big difference by annoying those causing the problems and was seen as a troublemaker because he was such an effective campaigner. We want to remember him properly by carrying on that work and honouring people brave enough to be annoying and trouble making, often at great cost to themselves.

To nominate a campaigner, use this form. The criteria are that the campaigner must:

- have made trouble for employers and/or government over workplace and/or environmental health and safety in order to make things better for workers and communities
- have been an effective campaigner, more than basic safety rep work
- have made a difference by their campaigning
- be still active now

Return your nomination form to the Hazards Campaign c/o GMHC and the winner will be decided by a panel of judges including Alan's partner and Hazards Campaigner Eve Barker, Rory O'Neill, the editor of Hazards Magazine and Mick Holder of the London Hazards Centre. The eighth Alan will be awarded by Eve at the 23rd national Hazards Conference at Keele University 31st August to 2nd September 2012.

Previous Alan winners:

2004: Phase Two Campaign – against micro-electronic hazards in Scotland

2005: Battersea and Wandsworth TUC – for their work on Roving Reps

2006: Save Spodden Valley –campaigning for safe development of Turner & Newall Asbestos factory in Rochdale

2007: BCDAG – Battersea Crane Disaster Action Group

2008: FACK- Families Against Corporate Killers

2009: Hank Roberts ATL Executive member with responsibility for health and safety, Brent ATL and NUT Branch secretary for his work on Asbestos in schools

2010: Joint winners the Blacklist Support Group and Michael Lees for Asbestos in Schools Campaign

2011 Simon Pickvance, a co-founder of the Sheffield Occupational Health Project, Hazards Campaigner, international activist and networker on all aspects of occupational health and especially on occupational cancer.

The Alan Award 2012 for the Hazards Troublemaker of the year

To be returned by 30th June 2012

Nomination Form for the eighth Alan to be awarded in memory of Alan JP Dalton to a campaigner who is most Alan-like.

Name of Nominee .....

Organisation/Position if any.....

Address .....

.....

.....

Tel No/e-mail .....

Name of Nominator .....

Organisation/Position if any .....

Address .....

.....

.....

Tel No/ e-mail.....

Reasons for nominating this person as Hazards Troublemaker of the year:

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

Return form to Hazards Campaign c/o GMHC Windrush Millennium Centre,
70 Alexandra Road, Mancehster,M16 7WD by 30.6.12